Enrollment and eligibility updates

▪ Updating plan eligibility rules

To make it clearer, BCBSND updated plan rules on how you stay eligible for coverage, such as how to pay your premiums, when to report changes and how special enrollment works. The updates also explain BCBSND's right to take back payments made for services that shouldn't have been covered. These changes help make the rules easier to understand and follow.

▪ Qualifying events documentation

BCBSND removed requirements for employers to send paperwork for events such as marriage or the birth of a child. Instead, you need to let your employer know the event happened to qualify for a special enrollment period. This change is part of a larger effort to make benefit materials clearer and more consistent. Your employer should still collect documents for their own records, but they don't need to be submitted to BCBSND.
